RUDOLPH POLK MEMORIAL AWARD RECIPIENTS

Established in 1957 by friends and colleagues of Rudolph Polk, this award is given to a student in instrumental music (violin, viola, cello, or piano) on the basis of an audition assessing technical competence, musicianship, and general musical background. Students of any of The Claremont Colleges are eligible to apply for the audition. Two awards are presented annually: one has been awarded to a graduate student since 2003, and one to an undergraduate since 1958. The Claremont Colleges Services (TCCS), through an intercollegiate faculty committee, administers the program.

BARBARA B. SMITH '42 GRANT

This grant is made possible through a trust created by Pomona Music major Barbara B. Smith (1920-2021).

One of the early members of the Society for Ethnomusicology, Dr. Smith went on to establish non-Western music in the curriculum at the University of Hawai'i at Mānoa and to mentor generations of scholars and world music educators. The grant is intended to support opportunities for experiencing off-campus instruction, workshops, and conferences in ethnomusicology and/or opportunities involving direct contact with non-Western music in settings beyond the college classroom.
